

By the arrival on Thursday last of the clipper bark Count, Capt. J. Smith, in the wonderfully quick time of nine days and twelve hours from San Francisco, we are in receipt of papers and dates to Jan. 7 from San Franisco, Dec. 11 from New York, and Nov. 13 from Livrepool. Telegraphed news from St. Louis, Mo., how-had commenced operations on the place. ever, are as late as Dec. 24.

The Comet brings a fair cargo and a number of pas-

The news from the United States are of a gloomy and serious character although all hopes of a peaceful compromise have not yet been abandoned. We clip from our exchanges as follows.

United States.

The South Carolina convention assembled on the 17th of December at Columbus, in the midst of a panic crested by the small-pox, which was intensely raging among the citizens and strangers. Many members of members of the convention were young in appearance. but generally they were middle-aged, and so far, calm and unimpassioned.

The Convention was permanently organized on the Orr 30 ; scattering, 3.

On taking the chair, Mr. Jamison spoke of the duties of their proceedings, but he would implore God's protection for the State.

The inauguration of Governor Pickens took place before the Legislature. The galeries were crowded; many ladies were present. The Governor read an inaugural speech. The sentiments expressed were decidedfrm for secession. He was warmly applauded. In he rear of the Governor were Cobb, Elmore, the Commissioner from Alabama, and Hooker, the Commissioner from Mississippi.

Advices from Brazos of the 13th December, states that meetings were being held along the Rio Grande, requesting Gov. Houston to convene the Legislature of Texas. The feeling of resistance was very strong.

The Albany Journal of 15th Dec. came out in favor of s compromise. It says : " We are almost prepared to say that the Territories may be safely left to take care of themselves." If this suggestion is inadmissible, it proposes a division of territory, as in 1820. Senator Seward had been three days in Albany, and it is thought that the article represents Mr. Lincoln's views.

It is understood that the U.S. sloop-of-war Brooklyn is prepared to proceed to Charleston, to aid in the defence of the Government forts at a moment's notice. The order has created quite a stir among naval men. In the Senate of Georgia, on the 17th Dec., an exciting debate took place on the bill appropriating $30,000 to arm the State. A resolution declaring the right of secession was referred.

Mr. Buchanan came out Dec. 16 with a Proclamadesignating Friday, the 4th Jan. as a day of gencondition of our country."

Northwestern Democrats generally take the position that the Union cannot be peaceably dissolved, and that the Northwest will not consent to be cut off from the Gulf of Mexico and the city of New Orleans. The leading idea is that of a Central Government, embracing the Middle, Western, and border slave States, but depending for its consummation on future circumstances. Howell Cobb, late Secretary of the Treasury, is getting "scissors" on all sides for bankrupting the National Treasury and then running away from it under the plea of sympathy for his native State and its resolve to secede from the Union.

With Gen. Cass the case is quite different. His resignation causes general and almost universal expres-sions of regret and of kindly disposition towards himself both as a public officer and as a man. The motive for his retirement is praised as a just and patriotic one, while the necessity for the step he has taken is as widely deplored. He goes out with a vastly better conscience

Private advices from New York, published, represent the feeling prevailing there, if possible worse than in Boston; the writer would not be surprised to see blood shed in those cities before long.

The New York Times' Washington correspondent says that Wade's speech is considered as reflecting more fairly and fully the position of the Republican party than any other that has been made, and is fully endorsed by them. Southern men are very bitter against his sentiments. This feeling has greatly increased since its publication in full.

The same writer also says that conservative men find very little cause for confidence in the speech of Crittenlen, and hold that the manner in which it was received furnishes no indication of a disposition on the part of the Republicans to accede to the terms proposed; though some Southern Senators expressed the opinion that it would be satisfactory to moderate Southern

At a meeting of the Committee of Thirty-three, the proposition of Davis, of Maryland, requesting the several State Legislatures to revise their laws, and if any were found conflicting with the Constitution or Laws of the United States, to repeal them, was adopted with but two dissenting voices. Davis, of Miss., unsuccessfully attempted to have the question of the Territories first disposed of.

A proposition of Davis, of Maryland, previously submitted, embodying a bill which requires the Marshal to deliver fugitives to the District Judge in the District of the State from which the fugitive escaped, for trial by jury, was referred to sub-committee of the members of

The proceedings of the Committee of Thirty-three ar not considered indicative of a satisfactory solution of the present differences.

Sr. Louis, Dec. 24. At a meeting of the Committee of Thirty-three a proposition was discussed for the admission of Kansas and New Mexico, which would settle the difficulties in these Territories. Nothing was done, and the Committee adjourned till Thursday next.

Subsequently the Republican members had a caucus, and concluded that no proposition satisfactory to ultra Southern States, by way of amendment to the Constitation, could be adopted by the people; therefore, it was necessary to prepare. The Governor of Maryland in his reply to the Misissippi Commissioners says, that not until all honorae, constitutional, and lawful efforts fail, will Maryand consent to dissolution. He is now awaiting with Governors of the border States relative to the course to be pursued by them. In the South Carolina Legislature on the 21st the House entertained resolutions providing for the feeding and transportation of troops, and establishing telegraph lines to exposed posts, under the authority of the Governor, in case of war or apprehended invasion. The N. Y. Tribune says positively that Lincoln is utterly opposed to any concessions or compromise, and will not yield one iota of the position occupied by the Republican party on the subject of slavery in the Ter-Up to this point the wires had very sluggishly transmitted the dispatch, and then refused to operate any longer. The few words received of the third dispatch seem to indicate that the South Carolinian Members of of losing their privilege. Congress had presented a letter dissolving their connecouse of Representatives.-EDS. ALTA. Europe.

Victor Emanuel left Naples on the 30th November, and arrived at Palermo on the 1st December, where he was enthusiastically received.

The Bishop of Loretto had excommunicated the clergy f Santa Clara for receiving Victor Emanuel. PARIS, Dec. 1.

The Patrie states, according to the latest news, that insurrectionary movements were increasing in the Abruzzi. Col. Bedigowngi, with 7,000 Sardinian troops, ocupied the defiles of Mount Vellino, a position of imfortance. Several guerrilla companies were being or-Sanized. The Piedmontese were forming flying columns, order to act energetically at the points mentioned.

caused by the priests and lazaroni, took place yesterday, and several persons were arrested, and the demonstration suppressed and tranquillity prevails.

The following is given as the latest position of affairs at Gaeta: The Piedmontese fleet had returned to Naples, the intention being to make an attack on the land side. The sdvanced Piedmontese posts were fifteen miles from the fort. They were placing mortars on the line to open fire, and three out of five batteries constructing were ready. The besieged kept up a fire to impede the construction of the batteries, but ineffectually. Typhus fever prevailed in the garrison, which numbers 18,000. The Piedmontese force is 15,000. The state of siege was established in the Abruzzi. All at present bearing arms without permission, exciting the peasantry, or insulting the national flag, are to be

The Consulta General had opened at Naples. The government explanation to the Consulta produced a good impression. Paerrio was elected Vice President of the Consulta after having refused the post of Minister without a portfolio.

Letters from Caprera tell of the Liberator enjoying his liberation as only a man can who has worked hard for the luxury. In those letters, however, Garibaldi speaks of his retirement as but temporary, and events point ominously to the approaching spring as probably fraught with disturbance to the peace of Europe, unless Austria make such a change as Austria is little the Legislature had gone home in consequence. Some likely to do. A Genoese paper, the Movimiento, tells of a surprise awaiting Garibaldi in his island home. During the period that the General was engaged in Sicily and Naples, Victor Emanuel had sent a regiment of laborers to Caprera, who had speedily cleaned, fourth ballot, on which Jamison received 118 votes and manured and planted the fields of the hero of Italy. In place of the unpretending cottage, which was all that former y served the merchant captain as a home, of the crisis as the most important that ever devolved the Sardinian King had caused a handsome villa to be on the State. The Times publishes full particulars of the expedition of the Bull Dog and Fox to ascertain the feasibility of the proposed North Atlantic Telegraph. The results are pronounced highly satisfactory and encouraging.

A large repeal meeting had been held in Dublin. Military volunteer companies, composed entirely of Hebrews, are to be formed and attached to a brigade about to be originated in London.
